

GOLDFIELD MINES CLOSE

Miners Union by a Unanimous Vote Refuses to Accept Scrip as Payment for Work and Go on Strike.

(Special to the Bonanza.)

GOLDFIELD, Nov. 27.—The mines of Goldfield are closed down. At a meeting of the miners' union last night it was unanimously decided not to accept scrip in lieu of cash for wages. The result of this action was that none of the miners went to work this morning.

The action came rather as a surprise to the operators and owners. There had been several conferences on the matter of the payment of wages with cashier checks from the John S. Cook and company's bank, and the operators had given as their ultimatum that this was the only manner in which the men would be or could be paid. A notice was posted in the miners' hall to the effect that none of the men were to quit work on account of the scrip, yet when it came to a vote last night, the men were unanimous in their expression against the scrip.

Some of the men have declared that there might be a possible chance of going to work for the ore producers and taking time checks, but that the non-producers must pay cash. This does not seem to be the general sentiment, however, since they went out from all the mines. They demand that the checks of the John S. Cook and company's bank shall be guaranteed in some manner, in just what manner they do not say. The checks are passing current locally, being accepted in the stores, saloons and all the business houses; but this does not appear to satisfy the miners.

A disagreement of the jury was expected by those who followed the trial closely. Adams was accused of murdering Fred Tyler in the Marble creek district in 1904.

While not denying that they were parties to a plan to overthrow the present government of Mexico, the men vigorously repudiated any intention of organizing a military expedition within the United States and claim that this is the only offense for which they can be extradited from this country.

SEARCH REVEALS NOTHING

POLICE FAIL TO FIND TRACE OF EARL KIMMONS AROUND PROPERTY.

(By Associated Press.)

OAKLAND, Nov. 27.—A. M. Wilkins, the man now held in the Alameda county jail for the murder of Verna Wallace, supposed to be none other than Verna Linderman Carmon of Sheffield, Missouri, is not the man who served a term in San Quentin under the name of James G. Bennett. Such was the outcome of a visit of Detective Ed. Gibson of San Francisco tonight. The search for more bodies on the Wilkins property at Elmhurst was continued today but revealed nothing. No trace of Earl Kimmons has yet been obtained, the man whom the police believe is cognizant of the facts surrounding the death and burial of the Wallace woman.

The Pacific Coast Borax Company, which has operated near Daggett for the past eighteen years, employing between 100 and 200 men, has closed down its plant preparatory to moving to Death Valley.

(By Associated Press.)

BERKELEY, Nov. 27.—The grand jury has been called to convene next Monday morning. Thirty-seven witnesses have been subpoenaed to appear before the inquisitors and give evidence to support the police assertion that Harry Bellows was killed in cold blood the night of July 26 last, and that Harry Kleinschmidt is his murderer. On this showing District Attorney Brown is confident that an indictment will be returned against the accused university student. Application for a writ of habeas corpus filed last Monday by the attorneys of the accused man will be heard Friday afternoon before Judge Harris of the superior court at Oakland.

Although Kleinschmidt's attorneys have made their first move, it in no wise disconcerts either District Attorney Brown or Marshal Vollmer, both of whom say with unshaken assurance that their case will prove to be the strongest piece of circumstantial evidence ever woven about a suspected criminal. That it will be more than ample to send Kleinschmidt to the gallows they affirm in a tone and manner which leaves little doubt about their own confidence.

The news from Sutter Creek that Miss Blanche Kerfoot may die as a direct result of her accumulated woes and mental sufferings does not upset the plans of District Attorney Brown, because he is firmly in the belief that the evidence is ample to convict Kleinschmidt of the murder of Frank Bellows without a single word of testimony from the girl. Such is the strength of the people's case.

The parties who did the robbing never have claimed to have paid more than $80,000 for this land, and as a matter of fact the Indians never received more than $40,000 for it. The money—what little there was of it—was deposited in banks for the Indians and through forgery and various other methods it was drawn out."
